The Shaman's Way of the North: Going Within

December 9 – 10, 2006

Cost: $250 ($50 deposit by Nov 10th)

Location: Turkey Run State Park

Sat & Sun: 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The intention of The Shaman's Way of the North Workshop is to slow down and tune into the wisdom of the ancestors and connect with nature and Mother Earth blessing our journey with healing, renewal and illumination. The North is the journey of honoring our blessings, releasing dysfunctional patterns and behaviors, and spending time alone to go within. When we listen and hear the small, still voice within our hearts, we can access our greatest potential for joy and fulfillment.

The ancient shamanic act of recapitulation, a recounting of the people and events in your life, will be taught and practiced. Through the process of recapitulation, you will experience a life review and a removal of personal history as events are relived not merely remembered. The result is freedom, an expansion of consciousness and an increase in physical, mental, and psychic energy required of the shaman.

We will make medicine bags; learn shamanic magical passes; gather power objects; take shamanic journeys to the Council of Elders and Ancient Medicine Men & Women; connect with your guardian spirits, allies, and power animals; perform recapitulation; and have experientials in the woods. Participants will enter the stillness called Tiyovoeh, experiencing new understanding, a deep serenity and vital life force allowing us to embrace Oneness. Here we find relationship, belonging, security and wisdom.
